Get ready, because unexpected things can always happen

Group Accident Insurance

Even with the best preparations and precautions, accidents happen. Feeling unprotected and vulnerable can make employees distracted and unproductive. An injury due to an accident can create additional out-of-pocket expenses for your employees.

Financial protection

Adding MassMutual@WORK Group Accident Insurance to your voluntary benefits offering can provide your employees with additional financial security. With group accident insurance, employees can feel financially prepared for the unexpected, with coverage that can provide a lump-sum benefit paid directly to them – to spend as they see fit. The potential comfort that comes with added financial protection may reduce employee stress, and could result in a more productive workforce, at no additional cost to you.

Why it makes sense to offer group accident insurance

- With high-deductible health plans, employees may face more out-of-pocket medical expenses.
- The lump-sum benefit may be applied towards personal expenses, bills, and out-of-pocket medical costs, helping to protect employees' financial well-being.
- It's easy! Whether it is the administration of the plan, education for your employees, or receiving the benefit – we've made it simple for you and your employees.

Who is group accident insurance right for?

Whether your employee is an athletic single or has an active family of five, everyone is vulnerable when it comes to accidents. Only 37 percent of Americans said they could cover a significant, unexpected expense outside his or her budget, such as $1,000 for an emergency room visit, with cash they have on-hand in a savings account or checking account.¹ Accident insurance can help to fill that gap and allow your employees and their families to focus on recovery, without the additional financial pressure.

Flexible. Design coverage levels to complement your total benefits package.

Convenient. Coverage available to your employees and their families — provides a lump-sum benefit paid directly to them.

Portable.³ Employees can take their coverage with them, if they leave the company.

Financial readiness, readily available.
